Weeks 24 & 25: January 22nd-26th & 29th-February 2nd, 2018

Theme: Community & Careers

Language Arts:

All around us you will find working people of all kinds— teachers, vets, and dentists who have important jobs to do. Doctors, nurses, firefighters too, and police officers dressed in blue. What important job do you do? Share with your child how you help our community, so they can share with their friends. They will also discuss what important job they would like to do when they grow up.

Motor:

Our community helpers will also appear in our obstacle course. As our bakers must make it along the zig zag path to the oven before dropping the ingredients, our police officers must jump over the wall to help someone, and our firefighters crawl under the flame through the tunnel to safety, and our basket ball players bounce the ball to the hoop.

Concept

Guess the community helper will be played each morning with clues in the estimation jar or tactile bag, the children will work on seriation of color, size, and number when we are postmasters. Our firefighters will be brave as they put out flames in our review game.

Craft & Writing:

Let's get baking! The children will explore their baking skills with some cookie cutters and play-doh. They will also continue to review brown and purple. The children will get to practice more of their curve cutting.
